Figure 3. Effects of Simplicillium lanosoniveum on soybean rust in 2009 field trials. Lesions per sq cm^2 were used as a quantitative severity rating, and S. lanosoniveum proved effective as a biological control agent against the rust pathogen. First symptoms of rust appeared on 9/27/2009, R5 stage of growth.