

A NEW DAY IN THE COUNTRY

Annual Urban-Rural Workshop

"... we cannot be free if our food and its sources are controlled by someone else."

*Michael Fields
Agricultural Institute
W2493 County Road ES
East Troy, Wisconsin*

(414) 642-3303

*Sunday,
September 20, 1992
10 am - 5pm*

*An all organic foods
lunch and farm tour
will be provided*

*Registration Fee:
$20 (lunch included)*

Please register by September 17, 1992

Here, in this country, at this time, we have the opportunity and responsibility to choose between a food and agriculture system based on industry or one on nature. The common ground between those who grow our food and those of us dependent upon them for that function is an invention of the 21st century. As Wendell Berry warns, "...we cannot be free if our food and its sources are controlled by someone else." We must create new ways of thinking about how we grow, distribute and eat our food. We need to talk about "community agriculture" because a sustainable agriculture cannot exist outside the context of community. A community is created by necessity and good intention. There is, at this point in history, the necessity for people to work together for control of their food supply and the good intention of people to work together with nature in the production of that food. Please join us for a day of presentations and discussion, and tour of a nearby farm. The power for making change exists, and the time is right. It is time for "A New Day in the Country."

We look forward to seeing you!

Presenters

Ken Taylor,
Minnesota Food Association, Keynote speaker and workshop facilitator.

John Bashaw,
Nokomis Farms, Grain & Beef Farmer, East Troy, Wisconsin

Carl Pulvermacher,
Dairy Farmer, Lone Rock, Wisconsin

Altfred Krusenbaum,
Dairy Farmer, Elkhorn, Wisconsin

Dean Swenson,
Dairy Farmer, Arena, Wisconsin