

Table 3: Sample of Sustainable Agriculture Definitions from Farmers and Ranchers

Farm/Rancher Owners and Operators The ability to continually to grow food and fiber. The ability of your land being used to provide all of your living needs. An agriculture operation that support itself. An operation that does not cost more to produce than it generates. No till planting, plant good cover crops. In need of support financial, but holding its own. It addresses many environmental &amp; social concerns &amp; offers innovative &amp; economically viable opportunities for growers. Growing food for the country - controlling nutrients, pest control, and environment and health issues. It is taking care of the land, groundwater and environment through sustainable practices. Sustainable agriculture manages the natural resources needed for production in a way that is protective of the environment and in a sel- supporting manner. Good land steward - putting back what you take out of land. Agriculture that provides for the needs of today while making it possible for future generations to meet their needs. Farming with the goals of economic health and profitability. Being able to grow healthy safe food while keeping farming environmentally safe. Agriculture that can continue thru the years, preserving the soil, water and environment to produce good healthy food produces.
---