

Optimizing Plant-Mediated IPM Systems in High Tunnel Vegetable Production
SARE Research Progress Report Year 1 LNE25-500R Photo Gallery
Project Leader: Dr. Cheryl Sullivan, University of Vermont

Figure 1: Alyssum habitat and bean trap plantings in mid-summer tomato (top) and cucumber (bottom) production.

Figure 3: Wild Syrphid fly adults on alyssum (left) and Anystis predatory mite (right).

Figure 2: Cucumber plant with less spider mite damage next to alyssum habitat planting than cucumber plants that are not.

Figure 4: Spider mite damage on bean trap plants.