

Figure 1. The field site with a 5.9 % slope at the University of Wisconsin Arlington Agricultural Research Station in Arlington, WI. The six treatments are in triplicate, yielding 18 plots that are grouped in pairs. One plot from each treatment contains additional instrumentation for the water-energy balance.