

The plastic holds water and causes the plant root to decay and the plant to die.

The plastic stops the downward movement of the plant root.

The plastic holds water and nutrients and does not allow the nutrients to be uptaken by other plants.