

WYOMING
OILSEED/BIODIESEL
ON-FARM PRODUCTION
MARKETING FIELD DAY

September 13, 2010

Boreen Ranch

Canola Oilseed

Initiatives to increase Wyoming's stake in energy crops started in 2005.

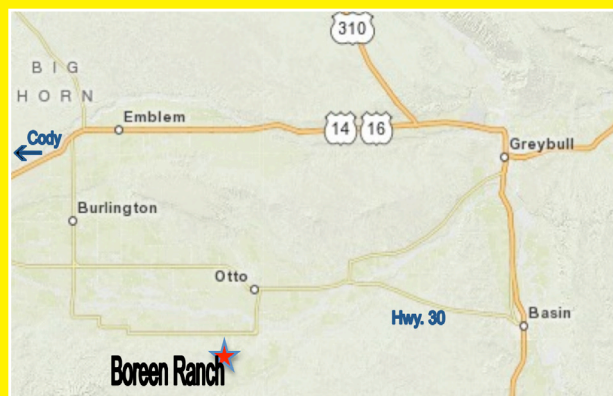

These efforts have reflected national trends to produce more domestic energy, environmentally-friendly fuels and spur rural economic development.

Oilseed Feed

Field Day will be hosted by Phil and Kate Boreen.

Come see how they have incorporated many sustainable energy systems on their ranch in Otto, Wyo.

Hosted by
Boreen Hay & Cattle Co., LLC.
Phil & Kate Boreen - Otto, Wyo.
and the Wyoming Business Council
Agribusiness Division

Camelina Oilseed

Plan on spending an informative day at the Boreen Hay & Cattle Ranch experiencing the opportunities and benefits of producing oilseeds.

Safflower Oilseed

FIELD DAY AGENDA

Balancing Oilseed Production and
On-Farm Co-Product Potential

8 - 8:30 a.m.

Registration: Coffee and Donuts

8:30 - 8:45 a.m.

Welcome/Intro from Wyoming Oilseed Working Group - Goals and Accomplishments

8:45 - 9:30 a.m.

Regional Success in Private Enterprises
Camelina Research at Montana State University
Alice Pilgeram - Bio Crop Research

9:30 - 10 a.m.

- On-Farm strategies in by-product feeding, crop contracts and on-farm or local biofuel production - Donn Randall

10 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.

- On-Farm oilseed crushing and biodiesel processing.
 - Oilseed Crushing:
Jon Schickel and Jerry Nachtman
 - On-Farm Biodiesel Production:
Phil Boreen

- Lunch - Cream Can, Sponsored by WBC

1:15 - 1:45 p.m.

- Oil Seed Crushing -
Costs, time, and capacity: Aaron Waller

1:45 - 3 p.m.

- Oilseed meal as livestock feeds and oilseed research: Bret Hess -University of Wyoming

3 - 5:30 p.m.

- Bio diesel made on the farm and used on the farm: Phil Boreen. Tour of Boreen Ranch Alternative Energy on-farm projects
- Producer Resource, Future of the Wyoming Oilseed/Biodiesel Working Group, Program Wrap-up

Sponsored by:

Sunflower Oilseed

Boreen Ranch Biodiesel Processor

For more information contact:

Donn Randall, Wyoming Business Council
307.777.6578 or donn.randall@wybusiness.org

Phil and Kate Boreen at 307.762.3264