1	Nov 5, 2014 4:44 PM	More time evaluating and discussing the farm would have been useful. Concrete examples are helpful. Going thru the report form would have been good too.
2	Nov 3, 2014 3:43 PM	Lucie was so full of hands on learning and ideas, I could have listened to her all day. She had some great ideas to share with other livestock entities. Ted Talk also had great ideas that could be used with other groups.
3	Nov 1, 2014 9:49 PM	More on nutrition, more on disease. I know I will learn more via webinars, etc.
4	Oct 31, 2014 4:29 PM	Genetics and "breed" choices.
5	Oct 30, 2014 3:27 PM	nope it was great!
6	Oct 29, 2014 10:52 PM	More on a balanced poultry diet- the importance of grit and alternative feeding programs.
7	Oct 28, 2014 4:29 PM	More about diseases that impact the industry
8	Oct 27, 2014 1:12 PM	Poultry nutrition
9	Oct 25, 2014 3:01 PM	All good; are there well developed enterprise budgets for larger operations to benchmark against so we don't have to guesstimate?
10	Oct 25, 2014 2:42 PM	See above.
11	Oct 25, 2014 11:07 AM	On the way home, i realized i would have liked to have a short discussion about hens easing eggs. This is an issue experienced by smaller producers

1	Nov 5, 2014 4:44 PM	Dick does a great job of organizing the sessions, just hard to keep things moving along some times.
2	Nov 3, 2014 3:43 PM	Continue to provide high quality education as exhibited by this meeting.
3	Nov 1, 2014 9:49 PM	I think the Poultry Problem Solving Network will be one of the best ways to get support.
4	Oct 31, 2014 4:29 PM	Clearly communicate expectations (have done a great job so far!) and encourage ongoing interaction via the listserv.
5	Oct 30, 2014 3:27 PM	So far it has been great. I think just being available for follow up questions when I have them would be great.
6	Oct 29, 2014 10:52 PM	The biggest difficulty for me will be balancing other work responsibilities with this additional project.
7	Oct 29, 2014 5:18 PM	somehow I never signed up for the Listserve (which I gather is an active group, and would be a great resource to me!) so if I can figure out how to connect with the group via that method, it would be helpful. thanks.
8	Oct 28, 2014 2:46 PM	Be available by email or phone to answer questions that may arise.
9	Oct 27, 2014 5:25 PM	chat lists are very helpful.
10	Oct 27, 2014 1:12 PM	Assist with any questions I may have
11	Oct 25, 2014 3:01 PM	Good data on poultry enterprise; keep resources flowing; love exposure to different successful farm operations and continue to build our network
12	Oct 25, 2014 2:42 PM	You are already so very helpful. Thank you for all that you are doing! This is an absolutely wonderful project.
13	Oct 25, 2014 11:07 AM	I was impressed by the collegiality of the group and am in hopes that our listserv network will provide the support and resources for issues that come up.

1	Nov 3, 2014 3:43 PM	Due to others attending from my Department that are directly involved in poultry, I would use my time with the project to enhance knowledge of poultry enterprises and work on updating list of poultry farmers in our State with breakdown to type of poultry and product.
2	Nov 1, 2014 9:49 PM	I appreciated the variety of speakers very much. Their different areas of expertise and experiences made for an interesting few days. I was very impressed by everything that was done and planned for us.
3	Oct 30, 2014 3:27 PM	Fantastic training, if there were the possibility for us to have a couple more breaks it would be nice so we have a little bit more time to network.
4	Oct 29, 2014 10:52 PM	Thank you!
5	Oct 29, 2014 5:18 PM	Richard, you are amazing and I thank you so much for organizing this opportunity for all of us!!!
6	Oct 28, 2014 4:29 PM	Need to incorporate more breaks during long sessions
7	Oct 28, 2014 2:46 PM	I really enjoyed everything about it! Great presenters, participants and place. I am very excited to be a part of this project.
8	Oct 25, 2014 8:12 PM	I don't like sharing a room, I don't sleep well worried about disturbing others with snoring. I have trouble sitting for such long periods of time, it sends shooting pain up my back. Breaks at least forty five minutes long would help so we could make a full lap around the building. Other than these two things, everything was great.
9	Oct 25, 2014 3:01 PM	Loved it as usual and can't wait for more - great job - filled with tons of new info and resources to share with producers!
10	Oct 25, 2014 2:42 PM	It's difficult for me to focus when there are a lot of side conversations happening.
11	Oct 25, 2014 11:07 AM	Thank you for the opportunity to participate. I look forward to using the information learned and working with this group during the next three years. It Was a very well organized and executed
