

Figure. 7. Corn stover baling and grazing impacts on wind erosion potential measured in spring 2014 at the Brule site in Nebraska. Erodible fraction (<0.84 mm soil aggregates) and soil aggregate size using geometric mean diameter as index were determined to assess wind erosion potential. Error bars indicate the standard deviation of the means.