

Site Member log in

- Home
- Workshop Recordings
- Soil Services
- Sponsorships
- Bulk Order - Closed for Season

Tue, Mar 21 | Fat Moon Farm

Adding Indoor Mushroom Production to Your Farm

This indoor mushroom cultivation workshop is perfect for those looking to take their farming skills to the next level. Join us to learn more about the basics of mushroom cultivation and using spent growing medium as a soil amendment.

Registration is closed
See other events

This website uses cookies and third party services.

Settings

Ok

- Home
- Workshop Recordings
- Soil Services
- Sponsorships
- Bulk Order - Closed for Season

Guests

+ 10 other guests

About the event

As one of the few mushroom farmers in New England, Farmer Elizabeth partners with agricultural and community organizations to offer educational programs that are designed for foodies, gardeners, homesteaders, and curious families who wish to learn more about this fascinating food and the important role it plays in our diet, our environment and the economy.

This indoor mushroom cultivation workshop is perfect for those looking to take their farming skills to the next level.

Participants will learn:

- The basics of mushroom cultivation including species selection, climate control, harvesting

Read More >

Tickets

Ticket type

Sliding Scale Event Tickets

Price

From $15.00 to $45.00

You + Support Another Attendee

$45.00

+$1.13 service fee

Recommended

$30.00

+$0.75 service fee

Reduced fee supported by contr

$15.00

+$0.38 service fee

Total

$0.00

This website uses cookies and third party services.

Home

Workshop Recordings

Soil Services

Sponsorships

Bulk Order - Closed for Season

Share this event

NORTHEAST ORGANIC FARMING ASSOCIATION, MASSACHUSETTS CHAPTER

PO Box 60043 Florence, MA 01062

Phone: \(413\) 561-0852561-0852)

Email: info@nofamass.org

©2024 NOFA/Mass