

Figure 6. The fragile, highly erodible soils of Southeastern Wisconsin. Most of the research sites are within a mile of this location. The terminal moraine of the last glacier is in the background of this South-facing view.