The photos + accompanying text offer
so many windows on the experiences of female farmers in Pittsburgh.
They have changed what I look at, what I look for and how I see urban gardening and farming.
Thank you!

This was an amazing turn out. It was lovely to see how even in different spaces all over the city we are still very closely connected.

Beautiful exhibit! I love the portrayal of the actual work being done, from dumped TVs to vibrant youth to gorgeous, healthy, happy plants!

Your photos and stories are so wonderful, beautiful and inspiring! Thank you for showing us your work creating beauty + foods everyone can enjoy. ♡♡

This photo/voice exhibit is so powerful. It is so beautiful to see gardens, farms, faces, flowers through the lens of women all over Pittsburgh. The work women are doing is important. This project gives value to different voices and perspectives. Thank you for sharing your worlds!

Magnificent, beautiful, important, feminine rising energy. Thank you for this. Mother Earth thanks you too.

I love that women are highlighted in this exhibit (and that women chose to highlight their communities). It means a lot to see ladies' work & labor & love on display, especially in a traditionally male-dominated space of agriculture.

Great event! Great speaker lineup & content. Great networking. Great beer/cider! Thank you!

Th. 3 is so wonderful! I love all your unique angles on things - from plant close ups to self portraits to reflections on being in community (plant & human)! Much love ♡

Great photos of restored blighted properties
It is a beautiful thing to see what the power of women can do for our communities

Hi!! It's Rainise I'm so happy to see this here what a surprise again. Looking forward to gathering and reflecting on this projects travel!

LOVE IT ♡ - Ebony Evans

Many people are so far removed from family & agriculture. It's great to see more urban farms/gardens!

I think that exhibit is Beautiful
you need to make it Bigger let me show you how to do it if I may

Love it

Took a picture of the Homewood garden to share with a childhood friend that still lives there

wonderful self-curated displays on the importance & love that goes into gardening.

Beautiful visual narratives. Thank you!

Each of these photovoices are so unique + personal! This is a powerful & peaceful display. Thank you!

I am so glad to your gardens from your eyes! Thank you for your work!

These are so lovely. Thank you for sharing it - not only with us, but with your communities
I hope you keep sharing it! Sarah W.

The diverse perspective and interpretations in a combined form of photographic and descriptive captions highlights the production a community farm or garden in result different than tangible produce and emotional bonds.

Sam Horner, Ambler PA

The photography is beautiful!
Keep sharing your work!

Beautiful! Thank you!

Lovely & inspiring! Thanks!
